Risks and Damages

There are certain risks inherent in any kiln firing. We make every effort to ensure success for firing of your pieces; however, there will be occasion when cracks or glaze defects will occur - usually as a result of improper firing, packing, transport, or glazing. Although rare, any damage to the kiln or refractory directly attributed to your work will result in replacement or repair charges

Paper Penalty

Paper clay and paper armatures will not be fired in our kilns. If it is not removed, an additional “full kiln” penalty will apply ranging from $40 small kiln to $80. Large kiln

Boxing

All pieces must be brought in reasonable sized boxes with a lid. No cookie sheets, boards, laundry baskets, etc.

We do not provide boxes.

Turnaround time

We will fire only when we are able to fill the kiln 2/3 or more as this, results in a more successful firing. If your project is time sensitive, you may need to book time ahead and pay for a full kiln, regardless of the number of items.
